Lay like the folds of a bright girdle furled

When Arnold says that the "Sea of Faith" used to be wrapped tightly around the world. He uses "Sea of Faith" to mean religion and belief in God. Arnold lived in a time where religion was being undermined by the scientific discoveries and theories of evolution (Cummings).

Works cited: