

Department of Sociology

Majors:	Minors:
B.A. in Sociology (Curriculum Map) (GLOBE Outcomes Map)	Conflict Studies Sociology

Learning Outcomes in Sociology

- Students will demonstrate familiarity with essential sociological concepts: socialization, stratification, social structure, culture, ideology, institutions, differentiation by race/ethnicity, gender and age, and deviance.
- Students will demonstrate an ability to apply the sociological imagination to contemporary social issues.
- Students will develop an understanding of how sociological analysis could inform policy.
- Students will value inquiry of social inequality, focusing on the association of race, class, and gender with social inequality
- Students will demonstrate knowledge of basic descriptive statistics, multivariate analysis, probability issues, inferential statistics, and use of statistical computer software.
- Students will demonstrate an understanding the benefits and limitations of different data collection strategies.
- Students will demonstrate knowledge of the basic theoretical positions and concepts of Marx, Durkheim and Weber.
- Students will demonstrate understanding of one or more contemporary debates in sociological theory.
- Students will demonstrate the ability to critically assess published sociological research.
- Students will demonstrate an indepth understanding of at least one area of sociology.
- Students will successfully identify a research question and appropriate methods for answering that question. They will write a research report and /or term papers that address this research question.
- Students will demonstrate the ability to write effectively.

- How Socl Has Closed the Assessment Loop
- Sociology assessment results 2018-2019
- Socl Assessment Results